

NICCOLÒ GUICCIARDINI

Niccolò Guicciardini is full Professor in History of Science at the State University of Milan. He holds degrees in physics (specializing in theoretical physics) and philosophy (specializing in history of logic). He wrote his PhD under the supervision of Ivor Grattan-Guinness (Middlesex University). He has been researching Newton's mathematics and Principia and their reception in the 18th Century. His latest book is Isaac Newton and Natural Philosophy (Reaktion Books, 2018).

35.º Encontro do
Seminário Nacional de
História da Matemática

Gouveia
17 e 18 de junho 2022

